

Contrast and Brightness Adjustment

These two filters are implemented with a single linear transform taking parameters “alpha” (α) and “beta” (β). Pixel values are multiplied by α to adjust contrast, then have β added to adjust brightness:

$$g(x) = \alpha f(x) + \beta$$

In effect the magnitude of α corresponds to the amount of contrast and the magnitude of β corresponds to the amount of brightness.